Subject: Revised DOT CCFs-comment

Dear Mr. Lodico,

We are a very small company that provides drug and alcohol testing. While I do believe moving to electronic CCFs are great, I am not sure of the cost of purchasing the electronic equipment required to use electronic CCFs. Do we have to purchase expensive printers and other software? I believe moving solely to electronic CCFs will impose an undue hardship on small businesses.

I received an email from these large national companies pushing the electronic CCF option but they are already equipped to conduct such collections unlike a smaller company. I believe electronic CCFs are great but need to determine the cost of the required equipment to truly support this option.

Thank you.
