Hi i suffer from a condition parauresis which means that I have shy bladder. This is a real medical condition that land many other people as well. Having urine only testing is very unfair and unjust. There should be other alternative option such as hair testing, saliva testing sweat gland testing. we people that suffer from paruresis wouldnt mind taking the drug test but we do mind having to take a urine test. Sasha needs to immediate mandate the use of alternative testing, especially if one claims to suffer from paruresis (shy bladder). Current rules are improperly and perhaps illegally through discrimination hurting my ability to obtain and keep a job.
